RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Are Appreciated by Hopkinsville People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one special kidney medicine that cures permanently and there is plenty of proof right here in Hopkinsville.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now states that the cure was lasting.

Miss L. A. Hester, 417 Cleveland St., Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "I believe there is little need of anyone suffering from backache when Doan's Kidney Pills can be had. The prompt and thorough relief which followed their use in my case has given me great faith in their merits. In the summer of 1903, I suffered greatly from soreness and lameness across the small of my back and other difficulties arising from weak kidneys. The contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from L. A. Johnson & Co.'s Pharmacy, were all that was required to free me from the distressing pain in my back and restored my kidneys to a normal condition. I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills at that time and although four years have since elapsed, I still hold a high opinion of them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Fashions in Bulgaria.

Bulgaria believes in fringes, and they are over all with the rare exceptions when the undershirt, always of the best of white linen, may be scalloped at the bottom and even then the fringe effect is used in the over tunic, for the gathering of the many threads suggests to the wearer the numbers of their nation, as is their peculiar red dyed reminder of their blood, and the flowers, and grains, and fruits, embroidered on their gowns represent their industry.

Many ills come from impure blood. Can't have pure blood with faulty digestion, i. e.: liver and sluggish bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters strengthens stomach, bowels and liver, and purifies the blood.

Flower Keeps Its Freshness.

A common South African flower possesses the valuable property of keeping fresh for two months or more after cutting. It is a white star of Bethlehem, producing a compact spike of flowers on a stiff, erect stalk 18 inches or two feet long. The flowers are of a thin and papery tissue, all white except the yellow anthers. It can be sent over as a cut flower from South Africa to England, and then lasts for weeks in water.

Itching, torturing skin eruptions, disfigure, annoy, drive one wild. Doan's Ointment brings back relief and lasting cures. Fifty cents at any drug store.

Before and After.

When a girl is engaged to a man she believes him when he tells her he would love to have her walk on him with her tiny feet; after she is married to him she would be satisfied to have him willing to put her rubbers on her without acting as if it were killing him.

Moving Spirit of Today.

Petrol, which may be described as the moving spirit of the age, is being applied so freely nowadays to locomotion generally that future generations will probably wonder however we managed to get along without it.

Everybody's friend—Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil. Cures toothache, earache, sore throat. Heals cuts, bruises, scalds. Stops any pain.

Dirt and Disease.

Dirt is the "perfect culture" of all disease and of all that delights in disease. There the microbes of all plagues live and move and have their being undisturbed by the broom or the mop, unafraid of the smell of soap, and never awakened from their rest by the light from any lamp of knowledge that constitutes the science of modern times.

MANY USES FOR ASBESTOS

Theater Curtains, Pipe Coverings, Wire Insulation and Other Things Made of the Mineral.

Asbestos plays a more important part in the national life than is generally credited to it. The well-made asbestos theater curtain assures the safety of the audience from stage fires. In the home the asbestos covering of the furnace and heating pipes, or of the gas logs in the open fireplace, makes for economy and comfort. Wherever steam is used as a motive power in factories, on trains or on ships, it is asbestos packing that holds the steam to its work; on the other hand, if electricity is employed, the wires are probably insulated by asbestos tape and the adjacent parts are made of asbestos "lumber." Asbestos shingles and sheathing make houses cooler in summer and warmer in winter and reduce the fire risk. From the ice house, where asbestos protects the brine pipes from the heated air, to the foundry, where it shields the workman from molten metal, in the workshop, the home or the place of amusement, asbestos contributes materially to human welfare.

COULDN'T SEE SMALL OBJECT

Waiter—Will you have a steak, sir?

WOULD EMULATE THE EMU.

"We must wage this battle until we get our oppressor, man, reduced to the happy condition of the emu family," said the suffragette orator to her women auditors.

"When the lady emu decides that it is time to raise a family she sounds a call like blowing into the bungle of a barrel. Mr. Emu comes and scrapes a hole in the ground and by and by there are a dozen eggs there. The male sits on those eggs, hatches 'em out after eight weeks and then takes care of the youngsters until the next hatching season, when they go to the mother. Now that is equal labor and equal responsibility and it is what we women are entitled to."

"Good! Good!" shouted the auditors.—New York Sun.

SCOTCH SABBATARIANISM.

Looking out of the window used to be an indictable offense on the Sabbath. In 1709 the Kirk Session of Edinburgh, "taking into consideration that the Lord's Day is profaned by people standing in the streets, vaguing in the fields and gardens, as also by idly gazing out of the windows, it is ordered that each session take its turn to watch the streets on Sabbath, and to visit each suspected house in each parish by elders and deacons with beadle and officers, and after sermon, when the day is long, to pass through the streets, and to reprove such as transgress and inform on such as do not refrain."

JUDGE SEES DANGER.

"Much of the judicial power has been shifted to the executive branch of the government, and the question now is not what will the courts of New York and Chicago and other places say, but what will Washington say? I say this is un-American and directly opposed to the constitution, which provides that there shall be three separate departments of government. With the balance maintained between judicial, executive and legislative branches of the government there can be no danger to the individual."—Judge Grosscup.

A DISCOVERY.

"I have discovered a way of making our predictions less misleading," said weather bureau employe.
"A new system of calculation?" asked the other.
"No. Instead of using the word 'probably' in our announcements, we will use the word 'possibly.'"

RULING BY MARTIN REGAN

How Kansas City Politician Suppressed an Attempt to Appeal From Decision of Chair.

A story told of Martin Regan had to do with the days of the old mob primary system in vogue in the politics of Kansas City in the early eighties. In the Sixth ward of those days much of the territory now known as "Little Italy," which in those days was largely inhabited by Irish, Martin's inveterate enemy was Jerry Dowd, who passed over many years ago. In one of the mob primaries in which Martin's nomination as alderman was involved, the Regan faction was the more numerous in the mass meeting at the old Tivoli garden at Independence avenue and Oak street. Regan was elected chairman and after a short speech thanking the meeting for the honor "on behalf of my friends and myself," he proceeded to ask what was the further business of the meeting. Instantly Jerry Dowd was on his feet to protest against Regan's nomination.

"Sit down, Jerry Dowd," yelled Regan. "You are out of order."

"I am not," retorted Dowd, struggling with Regan partisans who were trying to force him down. "Mr. Chairman, Mr. Chairman," he yelled, "I appeal from the decision of the chair."

"Sit down, Jerry Dowd, sit down," replied the alderman. "It takes two-thirds to appeal from the decision of the chair and there's not that many here."

TYPICAL CITY OF AMERICA

Some of the Many and Great Activities of the Municipality of Modern Times.

The typical American city builds, owns and operates bridges, ferries, docks and water supply; has built subways, gives free primary, secondary and higher education to all boys and girls who apply, for which purpose it even maintains free colleges; supports libraries, museums and collections of various kinds, nautical schools and observatories, free public baths, gymnasiums, play grounds and athletic fields, with free instruction in swimming, gymnastics and athletics; all this besides its prisons, reformatories, workhouses, almshouses, lodging houses, asylums, laboratories and hospitals of all sorts and kinds. Besides seeing to it that the citizen is law-abiding and moral, the city most carefully protects his health. It inspects his food and drink, attends to its quality, its measurement and weight; it watches over his home or his tenement, sees that he has enough light, air and space and that his sanitary conditions are as they should be. It assumes toward the citizen at his birth the relation of a kind and generous, if somewhat fussy, grandmother, and continues this relationship until he has passed away.—George B. McClellan, in Atlantic.

HAD HIS LAST WISH GRATIFIED.

George Cary Eggleston's "What Happened at Quasi," just published, has special interest in that it was the author's last work and consciously so. Believing that he would not recover from his illness, Mr. Eggleston in a note dictated to his son urged the publishers to hasten an advance copy that he might see the makeup before he died. He was especially anxious to see the dedication page, which was to bear a sketch of his little grandson. The author received complete copies of the book while he was yet able to examine them critically.

FOR BROADER COLLEGE WORK.

President Noble of Goucher college said the other day that the possibilities of college women in the way of earning a living are too limited, teaching being the only work for which the course fits them. He thought that as many women are temperamentally unfitted to teach, the course should be broader. Library work, domestic science courses, the work of a secretary were also mentioned.

APPROPRIATE REMEDY.

"What would you recommend me to take for that run-down feeling?" "I would recommend a pick-me-up."

NATCHELLE CONTRARY.

"Some men," said Uncle Eben, "is so natchelly contrary dat de only day dey feels like gittin' out an' doin' a day's work is Sunday."

COUP OF GREAT COLLECTOR

How Charles Wertheimer Bought Furnished House in Order to Get Priceless Chinese Vase.

The late Charles Wertheimer when asked on one occasion what he considered to be his astutest business coup, thought for a while and then told how once when he was walking through a Brighton square he espied through an open window what he knew to be a priceless Chinese vase. He went to the nearest postoffice, examined a local directory and found the name of the resident. Then he called and asked for the gentleman and was shown into the study under the name of "Hamilton." He briefly explained that he was looking for a modest house in Brighton and had taken a fancy to this one. Would the gentleman entertain an offer for the place as it stood—"lock, stock and barrel?" The owner, a little nonplused, hesitated. "If your offer is reasonable," interrupted "Hamilton," "I will give you an extra thousand." "Call tomorrow at 10:30 then," replied the owner. "Hamilton" did and found him prepared to accept £18,000 for the twenty-two years' unexpired term and the contents of the residence.

Although this was well over market value, "Hamilton" at once closed, adding the extra thousand, according to promise. As, however, he afterward sold the vase for £35,000, his coup was unmistakable.

GOOD ONE ON BERNARD SHAW

Cincinnati Librarian Said They Had "All the Works of the Great Buffoon."

"Bernard Shaw's new biography—is a piece of work that will win this brilliant playwright the respect he deserves."

The speaker, a Cincinnati poet, smiled.

"Mr. Bernard Shaw is well known," he said, "but not well respected. His profound and serious mind is regarded—dear knows why—as the mind of a trifle."

"For example, I desired the other day to read up a little natural history, and I visited a Cincinnati library to consult the one pre-eminent natural history authority."

"Have you," I said, "the works of the great Buffon?"

"Yes, sir," said the clerk, "we have all the great buffoon's works, sir."

"And he laid before me Shaw's 'Plays, Pleasant and Unpleasant.'"

WIT WON FORTUNE.

Talleyrand was nineteen when, on his first arrival in Paris, in 1773, he attended a reception of Mme. du Barry at Versailles. The young men around him were boasting of the favors they had received from the fair sex, and the devastation they had wrought. Talleyrand sat thoughtful and silent. "You say nothing, Sir Abbe," said the lady of the house to him at length. "Ah, no, madame," replied he; "I was indulging in very sad reflections." "And these were?" "How much easier it is in a city like Paris to win women than abbacies." The king, to whom the reply was repeated, is said to have conferred on him the benefice of St. Denis at Rheims, with a yearly revenue of twenty thousand pounds.

FRENCH TRAVELING SHOW.

The traveling showman is commoner in France than in England, particularly in country places. He has almost vanished as an individual from English country fairs; he exists only as the proprietor of galloping horses or boxing saloons or fat lady shows. But at the smaller country fairs in France you may still find the juggler, with his tinsel and sometimes quite charming dancer. The most ordinary French crowd has a curiosity about art of any kind unknown in England.—London Chronicle.

ARITHMETICALLY SPEAKING.

Johnny had just finished scratching a sum in the surface of the new sidewalk when his father arrived on the scene.

"What is this I see in the cement?" demanded the irate parent. "Those, father," replied the youth, "are concrete figures."

DISAPPOINTED.

Convalescent—Oh, I'm quite better now, thank ye.

Visitor—Quite better! After my walking over four miles to see you!
